

PURPOSE

The Energy Queensland Limited (EQL) and its subsidiaries (collectively the “EQL Group”) is committed to driving diversity, equity, and inclusion for the benefit of our employees, business, and customers.

Through a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion we:

- Ensure a safe and respectful workplace for employees.
- Gain access to the best available talent.
- Enable increased innovation, creativity and problem solving.
- Are better positioned to understand and support our customers and stakeholders.
- Position the business to enhance performance and results.

Scope

This policy applies to all members of the EQL Group, their officers, employees, contractors (where applicable) and any other people notified that this policy applies to them.

POLICY STATEMENT

Diversity describes our differences. These differences can be visible or invisible and include gender, marital or family status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, disability, ethnicity, nationality, religious beliefs, cultural background, socio-economic backgrounds, perspectives, experiences, and other areas of potential difference. Valuing diversity is about recognising and appreciating the unique contribution people can make because of their individual backgrounds, skills, experiences and perspectives.

Equity is about the fair, just, and respectful treatment of all people. Equity is about giving people what they need to make an equal contribution, noting that different people or groups may have different needs.

Inclusion is about creating an environment where employees can contribute to their potential. Employees feel included when they have a sense of belonging, are valued for the characteristics that make them unique, and feel psychologically safe to share their ideas and contributions. When individuals from different backgrounds work together in inclusive environments, they have been shown to communicate differently, ask more questions and contribute more to problem solving, resulting in greater results as a team and for the organisation.

Having a diverse and inclusive workforce leads to greater productivity, innovation and employee well-being.

Valuing and managing diversity, equity, and inclusion means that the EQL Group is committed to:

- Creating a safe and inclusive workplace where employees feel supported to be themselves, have a sense of belonging, and are enabled to make their best contribution. Everyone at EQL has a responsibility to behave inclusively at work.
- Shaping the workforce to reflect Queensland communities with consideration to skills, relative ability, experience and potential.
- Taking action as far as reasonably practicable in a timely manner to resolve inappropriate workplace and business behaviour that does not value diversity or promote inclusion. Inappropriate workplace and business behaviour includes direct and indirect discrimination, harassment, sexual harassment, bullying, victimisation and vilification; and deliberately non-inclusive behaviour.

- Supporting flexible work practices to meet the varied needs of a diverse workforce, and empowering employees to work in ways that maximise productivity, effectiveness, safety, and wellbeing.
- Understanding and supporting the diverse needs of our customers.
- Maintaining a program of work that underpins delivery of our diversity, equity and inclusion commitments and positions the EQL Group as an industry leader.
- Incorporating opportunities for employees to contribute to diversity, equity, and inclusion activities.

IMPLEMENTATION

Special Measures

Special measures support equity in the workplace, by supporting groups of people who face, or have faced, entrenched discrimination with the goal of giving them equal access to opportunities as others. Equality is the desired outcome, and equity initiatives, or special measures, are the means to achieve it. The EQL Group may utilise a range of special measures, allowed under anti-discrimination laws, with the goal of enhancing diversity, equity, and inclusion.

For example, the EQL Group may run a marketing campaign specifically aimed at encouraging women to consider opportunities in typically male-dominated parts of the business, support traineeships for First Nations candidates, or implement diversity targets.

Governance and accountability

All EQL Group employees, as well as contractors have an obligation to comply with this Policy inclusive of adapting their behaviour to ensure inclusive and appropriate workplace conduct.

The EQL Group requires all employees and contractors to create and maintain an inclusive workplace where everyone belongs, can be their unique self at work and feels comfortable and ready to contribute to their best ideas.

Program Development

The EQL Group will maintain a diversity, equity, and inclusion program which promotes a workforce reflective of Queensland communities and an inclusive workplace culture that not only acknowledges and values diversity, but also has the capability to manage diversity in the workplace and respond to diversity within our customer base.

DEFINITIONS

In this policy and any related documents,

Term	Definition
Board	The board of directors of Energy Queensland Limited.
Bullying	Is defined as repeated and unreasonable behaviour directed towards a worker or a group of workers that creates a risk to health and safety. Repeated behaviour refers to the persistent nature of the behaviour and can involve a range of behaviours over time. Unreasonable behaviour means behaviour that a reasonable person, having regard for the circumstances, would see as unreasonable, including behaviour that is victimising, humiliating, intimidating or threatening.
Direct discrimination	Is denying a person of an opportunity or treating them less favourably because they belong to a particular group or category. For example: not employing a male applicant on the grounds of females typically doing the job or refusing to call someone by their preferred name or use their preferred pronouns.
Diversity	Describes our differences. These differences can include gender, marital or family status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, disability, ethnicity, nationality, political beliefs, religious beliefs, cultural background, socio-economic backgrounds, perspectives, experiences, and other areas of potential difference including as outlined in the Anti-Discrimination Act 1991 (Qld) . Valuing diversity is about recognising and valuing the unique contribution people can make because of their individual background and different skills, experiences and perspectives.
Equity	Is the fair, just, and respectful treatment of all people. Equity refers to the processes, systems, or actions that enable equality, noting that different people or groups may have different needs to achieve equal access and outcomes. In practice, equity may take the form of special measures .
Equality	Is the state of being equal, and occurs when each individual or group has access to the same opportunities. Historically, many groups have not experienced equality in society, so equity measures or special measures are required to enable equality.
Harassment	Is any form of behaviour that is unwelcome and which offends, humiliates or intimidates a person.

DIVERSITY, EQUITY AND INCLUSION POLICY

Term	Definition
Inclusion	Is involvement and empowerment that enables an employee to contribute to their potential. Employees feel included when they have a sense of belonging are valued for the characteristics that make them unique and feel psychologically safe to share their ideas and contributions.
Indirect discrimination	Occurs when a practice or policy which appears to treat everyone equally, has a discriminatory effect against a certain group of people. For example: holding workplace meetings after work hours when employees with family responsibilities would find it hard to attend.
Sexual Harassment	Is any form of unwelcome sexual attention. This may be obvious or indirect, physical, or verbal, intentional or unintentional, or behaviour that creates a sexually hostile or intimidating environment.
Special Measures	Aim to foster greater equality by supporting groups of people who face, or have faced, entrenched discrimination so they can have similar access to opportunities as others in the community. Special measures are allowed under federal anti-discrimination laws.
Victimisation	Is when an employee is treated less favourably for making a complaint or providing information as a witness. For example: using pay back, refusing to acknowledge the person, removing or reducing benefits.
Vilification	Is a public act that incites hatred against, serious contempt for, or revulsion or severe ridicule of another person or group of persons because of their race, religion, sexuality or gender identity. For example: graffiti that encourages hatred of a particular race of people.
Vicarious liability	Is a legal term used to describe the liability a person or organisation may have when they have knowledge or are a witness to discrimination, harassment or workplace bullying and fail to take reasonable action to prevent it from occurring (including reporting). The person and/or the organisation can be held legally responsible and cannot claim not to have known.
This policy	This policy and any related documents.

ENFORCEMENT

The EQL Group does not tolerate non-inclusive behaviour and upholds the law aimed at preventing vicarious liability. To achieve this the EQL Group expects its employees to:

- Comply with the Code of Conduct and behaviours at work or after hours work functions.
- Understand and comply with this policy.
- Be assertive to prevent inappropriate and non-inclusive behaviours including discrimination, harassment, bullying, victimisation and vilification.
- Willingly adapt their behaviours if required to ensure appropriate workplace conduct.

P016

DIVERSITY, EQUITY AND INCLUSION POLICY

If this policy is not adhered to, it may result in disciplinary action, or other outcomes, including but not limited to, counselling, warning, dismissal, depending on the circumstances.

VARIATION

This policy is not intended to detract from, or add to, any rights held by a person covered by this policy under a contract of employment or enterprise agreement. Subject to any consultation obligations, the EQL Group may vary, add to, withdraw, or replace this policy, at its discretion, at any time.

This policy should be reviewed at least every two years. This policy may only be varied by the Board. The CEO or the Company Secretary can approve administrative changes to Board approved policies (i.e. minor updates, amendments or corrections not involving changes to delegations or the provisions of the policy).
